

Lab 4

This assignment analysis and design of the fictitious SBRU travel service through domain modeling. Perform the following activities as part of the assignment:

- Read the case study at the end of Chapter 4
- Use the 2 questions as a guide to develop a domain model for the Social Networking subsystem:
 - Develop a list of classes and their attributes. Creativity counts and so do some research on social networks to come up with interesting classes and attributes that make your system more realistic and plausible.
 - Use these classes to develop a domain model class diagram for this subsystem.
- There are drawing tools in the "Start Here" section of the course.
- Remember lists and diagrams always need a narrative to elaborate on them. This is what makes your document a narrative business document and not just a list of facts and ideas.
